

Fight against odometer fraud

The manipulation of odometers is a major issue that accounts for € 5,6 to € 9,6 billion/year in the EU.

Beyond the severe impact that it has on the safety of the car, odometer fraud also negatively affects the relation of trust between consumers and professional dealers.

By highlighting and promoting the most relevant solutions (both legal and technical) that have been found at both national and EU level to fight against the odometer fraud, CECRA aims to reduce the negative impact that this phenomenon has on the European car dealers' image.
